DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wu (US 6,482,744).

Wu describes a method for etching a substrate comprising: loading the substrate on a susceptor in an etching chamber (col. 2, line 30-35); performing etching with a height of the susceptor in the etching being adjusted to an optimum height that results uniform and even etching of the material (col. 1, line 40-45; col. 3, line 16-40). The uniform and even etching would read on claimed minimum deviation of etching depth.

Referring to claim 6, the support pole 107 that moving up and down to adjust the height of the substrate would read on claimed shaft under the susceptor (col. 2, line 18-29).

Referring to claim 7, the material etched included oxide layer (col. 3, line 50-61). This would read on claimed silicon oxide layer.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wu.

Unlike claimed invention, Wu doesn't describe the etching method is for rounding a corner of an opening. However, he teaches that the method can be used with any etching process that requires uniform etching over the entire surface of the substrate (col. 4, line 59-63).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to use the method for any etching including rounding corner of an opening in order to provide an uniform etching over the entire surface of the wafer.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-4 are allowed because applied prior art, Wu, doesn't describe repeating the 2 steps (in claim 1) with respect to various height to obtain several sets of corresponding data for different heights and selecting the height resulting in a minimum deviation of etching depth as a height to perform a normal etching process. Wu describes the uniform etching (minimum deviation of etching depth) is achieved by etching the substrate at different heights.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 9/21/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the entire etching of the material is completed at the optimum height or selecting the optimum height for the susceptor to perform the entire etching process) are not recited in the rejected claim(s).

Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 1765
